The Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences at the Hashemite University Is pleased to announce its intention to hold its first scientific conference under the title:

CHALLENGES OF GLOBALISING FINANACIAL SYSTEMS

The conference will take place on Wednesday and Thursday 21 and 22 October 2009 in Amman, Jordan.

The conference aims at bringing together academicians and practitioners with interest in the business disciplines of accounting, finance, management, economics, or business law. It provides a forum for presenting and discussing new research and current issues in business and related topics.

The conference committee welcomes submissions of research manuscripts related to the following areas:

- 1) The regulatory environment of financial markets.
- 2) Control and monitoring policies by central banks around the world.
- 3) The current international financial crisis.
- 4) Consequences of the current international financial crisis on emerging financial markets.
- 5) The Islamic financial system as a new financial system.
- 6) Asset-backed securities and securitization.
- 7) International accounting and auditing standards.
- 8) Risk management and internal control.

Fees for participation in the conference are JD 150 or USD 215 or equivalent in other currencies. Rooms at the conference hotel will be available for accommodating participants from outside Jordan for an additional fee.

Researchers interested in presenting papers at the conference should submit the full text of their manuscripts to the email of Dr. Modar Abdullatif modar@hu.edu.jo or Dr. Bashar Malkawi bmalkawi@hu.edu.jo by 30 June 2009. The submitted manuscripts will be refereed, and decisions on acceptance or non-acceptance of manuscripts will be sent by 31 August 2009.

The Hashemite University looks forward to welcoming you at its conference
